Arthur Ball, business agent for the butchers, explained the situation thus: "We can hardly be expected to accede to the demand of the employers to side a beef and a half more each hour, or fifteen more beeves a day, than at present, for an increase of 25 cents per day. The question is, will the men feel like siding fifteen beeves for 25 cents, about half what they receive now for the same work?"

The other unions here have no wage differences with the packers.

ATTORNEY T. J. ROWE STRUCK BY ANGRY WOMAN.

Mrs. Bertha O. Andreson, Incensed at Questions Put to Witnesses, Scratched Lawyer's Lip.

Thomas J Rowe, who has been chief counsel in nearly all of the big boodle cases, was assaulted by an irate woman in the corridor on the second floor of the Four Courts yesterday afternoon

Attorney Rowe had appeared in the Court of Criminal Correction to defend guards of an army in the neighborhood of Christian Andreson and Mrs. Evelyn Euler, who had been arrested on complaint of Mrs. Bertha O. Andreson of No. 2621 McNair avenue, the woman who assaulted Judge Moore discharged the defendants and they and the attorney were leaving the courtroom when Mrs. Andreson attacked Rowe. The attorney backed away from her, but she reached his face and cut his lip.

Then, turning to her husband, the wom-

Then, turning to her husband, the woman struck him in the face.

Deputy Sheriffs Jolly and Noonan interfered. Attorney Rowe then left the Four Courts. No arrests were made.

Mrs. Andreson was angered by questions put to other witnesses by Attorney flowe, which she considered as reflections upon her. She waited outside the courtroom door for her husband and his attorney to appear and sprang upon them as they stepped into the corridor.

Mrs. Andreson's son started to aid her, but Chief Deputy Sheriff Horan held him back while Deputies Noonan and Jolly dragged Mrs. Andreson away.

SIX CHANGES IN ST. LOUIS DISTRICT.

Bishop Galloway Announces His Appointments and Methodist Conference Adjourns.

DR. SHARPE PRESIDING ELDER.

Doctor Bradfield of Austin, H. R. Singleton of Ruston, La., and L. E. Todd of Macon, Mo., Brought Into District.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Farmington, Mo., Sept. 28.—Bishop Galloway made only six changes in his appointment of pastors for the St. Louis District of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at the conference which closed here to-day. All of the ministers, after expressing general satisfaction at the new arrangement, departed for their homes this afternoon and to-night.

Doctor T. E. Sharpe, pastor of Lafayette Park Church, was made Presiding Elder, and the Reverend J. E. McDonald was appointed to take charge of Lafay-ette. In addition to his work as Presiding Elder, Doctor Sharpe will be conference secretary of education.

problems which confront advance and rear Doctor W. D. Bradfield of Austin, Tex. is appointed to take charge of the Cook Avenue Church. The Reverend H. R. Singleton of Ruston, La., takes charge of the Cabanne Church, while J. S. Tilley is sent to Mount Auburn to relieve Josephus Stephan, Mr. Stephan, in turn, is sent to Marvin. Doctor J. H. Young remains another year at Wagoner Place: Doctor J. W. Lee at St. John's, and Doctor W. F. Mc-Murry continues at Centenary.

The Reverend L. E. Todd of Macon, Mo. goes to the First Church in the place of the Reverend H. G. Henderson. The Reverend C. W. Webdell remains at St. Paul's and the Reverend A. Mather continues at warfare as nearly as possible.

The troops were astir early. At roil call the line officers made a rigid inspection of each man's cartridge belt, to make sure that no bail cartridges had crept in among the blank ones.

After breakfast the 2,000 regular soldiers divided into bodies of equal strength to begin their maneuvers.

After a day spent in maneuvering among the hills, the first of the mimic battles ended with an apparent advantage in favor of the "brown" army. The conditions prevailing were those governing the proper employment of advance and rear guard by the armies. The problem for the day, as announced by Colonel Wagner, chief umpire, was as follows:

The "blue" army having been defeated by the "brown" army, fell back on Louisville, its basic point. Here it secured heavy re-enforcements, and turned on the brown army, which began a retreat toward its base at Nashville. The advance guard of the blue army was expected to cripple the rear guard of the brown.

The actual clashes were not numerous, being largely confined to brushes between flankers.

Colonel Morton had swiftly disposed of his brown cavalry men at a point where he was able to threaten the blue column commanded by Colonel W. T. Duggan and at the same time practically forbid an attack by the blue main column commanded by Major Williams, unless the latter took a longer detour than the time limit allowed.

The brown rear guard was not only able Immanuel. O. H. Duggins will stay at Carondelet for another year. Other appointments in the St. Louis District are: Shaw Avenue, the Reverend W. Q. Donnon; Oak Hill, E. J. Rinkle; Kirkwood, R. L. Russell; Clayton, J. N. Stultz; Ferguson, O. C. Fontaine; Bridgeton, Olin Roggers, and Bellefontaine, J. R. Eddle-the Cook Avenue Church, is appointed president of Central College at Fayette, Mo., and the Reverend A. F. Smith is appointed president of Central Female College at Lexington, Mo. Doctor Morris went to Fayette last summer when the lowed.

The brown rear guard was not only able to forestall the enemy's attack, but to do it with trivial loss—a cardinal principle for the rear guard being not to engage at the risk of heavy loss unless absolutely essential to the safety of the main body. The brown horsemen took advantage of the ground so well that they were able to threaten either the bine columns with a superior force and yet maintain a superior defensive position. The maneuver ended late in the afternoon with trivial loss in "killed" and captured on either side. Board of Education elected him president of the college, but it was necessary for the conference to approve the selection. TRANSFERS ANNOUNCED.

Transfers from the St. Louis District were made as follows: J. F. Loyale, Western Conference; R. O. Triplett, Montana Conference; J. S. Stamrended late in the afternoon with trivial loss in "killed" and captured on either side.

CRONIN RETURNS FROM TRIP ABROAD

Brings Blackthorn Sticks and Other Presents to Members of the House of Delegates.

New York, Sept 28.—Jim Cronin, Justice of the Peace of St. Louis, left for home to-night. He returned from a trip abroad at midnight Saturday. The Judge is loaded down with presents for the members of the House of Delegates. Blackthorn sticks. purchased or won at fairs in Ireland, are in the majority.

Judge Cronin weighs about ten pounds more than he did before sailing. This is due to a new beverage—"Irish whisky and goat's milk"-which he drank during his extended trip through the "old dart." He visited France and England also, but his stay in France was of short duration. "I got out of that country as quick as the Lord would let me," said the Judge to-day. "Every one I met talked with his hands, his shoulders or his head. They made some sort of sound with their mouths, but it was too many for me and I quit the game.

"Funny crowd, those Frenchmen. They get excited if you look at them and begin to shoot off a lot of 'yiddish.' I could not stand the game and packed my trunk in short order. KISSED THE BLARNEY STONE

"In Ireland I saw everything that was worth seeing, I visited Blarney Castle in Cork and kissed the Blarney Stone. I also went to the Lakes of Killarney, the Currah of Kildare, Daniel O'Connell's grave and Phoenix Park. "It seems to me that they had fairs for my exclusive benefit. Every place I struck a fair was in progress, and, of course, I had to visit them. I had lots of fun at them, though. The girls in Ireland are as pretty as they always were, and the men just as handsome and manly. "One thing that nettled me was the disregard of some hotel proprietors for the comfort and satisfaction of their guests. was stopping at a certain hotel-never mind the name-and wanted my favorite dish of corned beef and cabbage. They told me they did not have any and could not supply it. I thought this was rubbing it in, so out I go and buy twenty pounds of corned beef and four big heads of cabbage. I took it to an old Irish woman who lived in a hut a quarter of a mile away and had it cooked. INVITED GUESTS TO DINE.

"When it was ready, with the aid of the old woman's son, I brought the mess to the hotel and invited all who cared to join me to sit down and have a good feed. "It was so tempting that I had lots of company, and all enjoyed the old Irish dish thoroughly. "Irish whisky and goat's milk," continued the Judge, "is a great drink. You can get the real thing in Ireland, and it was the only drink I indulged in while I was on that blessed island. If I was sure I could get the genuine article here, I would cut out all intoxicants. Irish whisky and goat's milk, you know, is not intoxicating. It just exhilarates and makes you strong." The Judge celebrated his safe return to the United States by attending services in St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday with Jimmy Wakely, his bosom friend, in New York.

MARRIED 24 YEARS, NOW WANT A DIVORCE.

This Makes the Fourth Time th Lineks Have Asked the Courts to Separate Them.

For the fourth time Edward C. and Helen Linck faced each other in the divorce court yesterday, and the domestic infelicities of the couple were given a thorough airing.

The trial yesterday was held in Clayton It was not finished, as there was a vast amount of evidence to be introduced and the taking of testimony will be resume amount of evidence to be introduced and the taking of testimony will be resumed this morning.

The Lineks were married July 23, 1879, and lived together until August 5, 1896, when they separated. During the following year Mrs. Linck had her husband arrested twice on charges of wife abandonment. The first trial resulted in Linck's acquittal, the second in his conviction, but the finding of the lower court was reversed in the Court of Appeals.

During the fail of 1896 Mrs. Linck sued her husband for divorce, but afterward dismissed the sult. In 1898 Linck filed a suit for divorce, but it, too, was dismissed on the defendant's promise to return and live with him. Both of the proceedings were instituted in St. Louis. The other two were filed in Clayton, both by the husband. One of them was dismissed last January on account of a disagreement of the attorneys in the case.

Linck, in the suit begun yesterday, charged his wife with abandonment. She filed a crossbill on the same charge, and named Mrs. Dora Vorhauer, a weaithy widow of Glendale, as co-respondent.

At the last term of the St. Louis County Circuit Court Mrs. Linck sued Mrs. Vorhauer on a charge of allenating her husband's affections. She got a verdict for head of the same charge, and named mrs. Vorhauer carried the case to the St. Louis Court of Appeals, where it is now pending.

In addition, Mrs. Vorhauer carried the case to the St. Louis Court of Appeals, where it is now pending.

In addition, Mrs. Vorhauer and her attorney, Henry Oberschelp, went before the last Grand Jury and had both Linck and Mrs. Vorhauer indicted on a statutory charge.
